Residential door hardware - Modern door hardware allows us to achieve a high level of security. Over the last few years changes in legislation, standards and guidance have left some specifiers unknowingly working to out of date practices, some of which may even compromise the often overlooked vital role doors play in emergency escape. Securistyle has taken a fresh and comprehensive look at this topic and, through this new CPD seminar, aims to help specifiers understand where the market is today and to specify right.
